

LARGE CHORUS TO RENDER ORATORIO

"Stabat Mater," Famous Latin Piece to Be Sung Here

AUTHOR WAS UNLUCKY

Died while Writing Master-piece on Friday the Thirteenth

That attending a public organ recital is becoming one of the most popular methods of spending a part of Sunday afternoon in Tulsa was attested by the size of the audience in attendance at the organ recital in the First Christian church Sunday.

Ernest Frank Stamm, organist, spent his best throughout the whole program, rendering each number with the spirit which is characteristic of the organist. In the opening number, "Prelude," the rolling tones painted a musical picture of the rolling prairie. The most popular number on the program was the four closing organ solos, all requested by the audience.

"Maiden's Fare," by Wagner, was played by Mr. Stamm with rare beauty.

Mr. Stamm's Edwards, contralto, sang two solos, the one greeted with more favor being "Agnus Dei" by Bizet.

Stamm to Direct Choir.

Mr. Stamm, whose ability as an organist is equalled in different parts of the city, will direct the production of "Stabat Mater" by the chorus of the First Christian church on Sunday evening. This will be his largest undertaking of the church in a musical way and will take the place of the regular evening service.

A chorus of 50 will sing the oratorio. The soloists will be Mrs. G. O. Shafer, soprano; Mrs. I. E. Edwards, contralto; S. M. Dickinson, tenor; and Rev. Meade Dutt, basso.

The chorus choir has rehearsed regularly for the production throughout the fall and will give it with finished musical effect.

Tells History of Piece.

The oratorio itself, which is by Rossini, is one of the greatest of the kind. A history of the composition is given by Mr. Stamm in his introduction.

The Latin poem known as the "Stabat Mater" has been composed in the 13th or 14th century. Its authorship is attributed to Jacobus de Beneditto. As a result has inspired the genius of

Two "Y" Organizations Hold Meeting to Start Week of Prayer in City

Rev. Meade Dutt, pastor of the First Christian church, was the principal speaker Sunday afternoon at a joint meeting of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. to open a week of prayer by both organizations. There was music by a quartet from the Junior Avenue M. E. church, and a violin solo by Mrs. G. Garabedian.

In a lengthy talk upon the subject of "Prayer," Dr. Dutt said in part: "It is comparatively easy to talk on external things such as birds, trees, rocks and the like, but prayer can scarcely be classed with such things. Prayer comes among the finer things of the soul and must be treated as such."

Some ten of the great masters of musical composition among whom are Palestrina, Haydn, Rossini, and Dvorak. Of all of these none has been so popular as that of Rossini, and it is his great work more than that of any other that has made the world familiar with the "Stabat Mater."

After the failure of "William Tell," a work of magnitude, Rossini abandoned operatic writing, although he was under contract with the Paris Grand Opera to produce four more works, among which was to be one based on Goethe's masterpiece, "Faust."

Author Died Before Completion.

It is not known exactly why he chose to abandon the operatic writing, but in 1832 he was persuaded by a friend to compose a "Stabat Mater" for the Spanish minister, Don Venera. This composition was not to be made public. Before its completion, however, Rossini fell ill, and Tadolini wrote the last four numbers.

The work was dedicated to Valera with the understanding that it was always to be retained by him. Nine years later Valera died, and Rossini learned that his heirs had sold the composition to a Paris publisher for 7,000 francs. He at once claimed the copyright and in the legal action which followed Rossini was successful. He then composed four new numbers in place of those written by Tadolini and sold the work for 6,000 francs. The publisher sold the rights of performance for a limited time for 8,000 francs and then in turn sold it to the Theatre Italien for 20,000 francs. His first complete performance was on January 7th, 1832, at the Theatre Italien.

Marie and Tadolini were the artists who first took the principal parts.

Rossini's last work was a minor composition known as "Messa Solenne," "Solenn Mass." He always regarded Friday as an unlucky day and this was an unlucky number. It is singular that he died on Friday, the 13th of November, at the age of seventy-seven.

LECTURE ON Men and Women of Tomorrow Child Welfare—Child Conservation Musical Program

"Work for the Child," Says David Starr Jordan, President of Leland Stanford University, California

"If ever you wish to go in for philanthropy, if ever you wish to be of any use in the world, do something for the little children. If ever you want to be truly wise, study children. We can dress the sore, bandage the wound, imprison the criminal, heal the sick and bury the dead, but there is always a chance to save a child. If the great army of philanthropists ever exterminates idleness and pestilence, ever works out the race's salvation, it will be because a little child has led them."

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, purging cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.
